SPANISH THRONE THREATENED; SERIOUS UPRISING FEARED

PREMIER OF SPAIN IS KILLED; ASSASSIN THEN SHOTS HIMSELF

Canalejas Dies Almost Instantly from Two Bullets Fired into His Head Behind Ear.

REVENGE WAS MOTIVE

Nihilist Opens Fire on Spanish Statesman in Front of Government Building—Believed Part Premier Played in Ferrer Case Responsible for Assassination.

Madrid, Nov. 12.—Premier Canalejas of Spain was assassinated this morning by Manuel Pardo Zarrate, a nihilist, in front of the building of the ministry of the interior. He fired twice, both bullets entering the premier's head behind the ear. Making sure his victim was dead, the assassin shot himself dead before the arrival of the police. It is believed the assassination was for revenge for the part played by Canalejas in the death of Francisco Ferrer.

At the time of the shooting the premier was crossing the square to the ministry of the interior building to attend a meeting of the cabinet. He was unguarded and it was not difficult for Zarrate to reach him. When shot the premier did not utter a cry but collapsed to the pavement. The assassin was 28 and a native of Northern Spain.

The king, shocked, hurried to the scene and prayed long beside the body. In the cabinet meeting after the tragedy Minister Prieto was appointed as acting premier. It was reported the assassin did not commit suicide, but is under arrest. This is the first time since the death of King Amadeo Savoy he was made minister of agriculture in 1902 and premier in 1910. He was fought bitterly by the clericals.

Madrid, Nov. 12.—Canalejas a liberal, succeeded Antonio Maura, a conservative, after Maura's rule ended in general disorders. He took his seat in the cortes representing the Soria district at the age of 23, and during the brief republic following the resignation of King Amadeo Savoy he was subsecretary to the president. He was made minister of agriculture in 1902 and premier in 1910. He was fought bitterly by the clericals.

Paris, Nov. 12.—It is reported the assassination of Canalejas is a signal for an anti-government uprising in Spain. Local anarchists are reported ready to participate.

Madrid, Nov. 12.—The shooting was in front of the Puerto Del Sol square which was packed with pedestrians. The police and military attempted to clear the square and a wild stampede ensued, scores of passing mules becoming crazed with fright. The body of Canalejas was taken to the ministry of the interior building. All prominent anarchists were arrested and an uprising was feared. The assassination followed a Ferrer memorial meeting.

SWEATING PROCESS ESTABLISHES GUILT

Sacramento, Nov. 12.—James Gaynor of Los Angeles, U. S. secret service officer, spent the greater part of yesterday "sweating" George Malone, the youth who surrendered Sunday to the local police and declared that he had participated last Friday night in the hold-up of the Shasta. Limited train near Delta, but the "sweating" was reversed from the usual process and was an effort to make Malone deny his guilt.

When the day was over he still maintained his original story of the guilt even when told he could get no immunity and that his statements might send him to prison for life. Gaynor had advised the Washington federal secret service bureau officers and is firmly convinced the prisoner is telling the truth regarding the hold-up.

DIAZ ESCAPES FROM PRISON

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 12.—General Felix Diaz, leader of the latest revolution in Mexico has escaped from prison, according to a letter received here yesterday by R. G. Killwin of this city from R. H. Dickerson at Oaxaca, Mexico. Dickerson is from Boston and is interested in mining in Mexico. The letter was dated Oaxaca, November 3, and said, in part:

"This afternoon a special edition came out here saying General Felix Diaz has escaped from prison by bribing sentries and gone by boat down the coast. The whole town is wild and Emilio goes around with a grin. Emilio says he is going with several other Mexicans here."

Kirwin says the Emilio referred to is Felix Diaz's nephew. Kirwin, who recently returned from Mexico said he inferred from Dickerson's letter that news of the escape of Diaz was suppressed by the government because of the effect it would have on other rebels.

TRIAL OF LABOR MEN IS HALTED

Indianapolis, Nov. 12.—The trial of the 47 laborites was suddenly halted today when a stroke of apoplexy attacked Juror Allen Spaulding in the box. At the end of half an hour Spaulding was unimpaired and the trial adjourned until two. McManigal was relating dynamitings when adjourned.

McManigal said he used nitro glycerin in Rochester and Pennsylvania for material to destroy the McClintic-Marshall bridge. In Kansas City in August 1910, he found the explosive gone and said he then secured 12 alarm clocks and 12 quarts of nitroglycerin, telling John McNamara the Rochester explosive had disappeared. He said McNamara wanted the Kansas City explosion finished quickly. He said he took the explosive to Kansas City and badly damaged the bridge.

Because of the illness of Spaulding the trial adjourned until tomorrow and if Spaulding is unable to return then the trial will be compelled to order a mistrial. The federal district attorney said in such event he would order a new trial immediately.

COLONEL ISSUES HIS STATEMENT

NEW PARTY IS TO STAY

Says Achievement in Election is Unparalleled in History of Country—the Battle Has Just Begun—Proud to Have Been in the Fight, He Declares.

New York, Nov. 12.—Theodore Roosevelt made a formal statement last night bearing upon the election and the future of the progressive party. In harmony with previous expressions of his own and of his colleagues, he reiterated that the progressive party has come to stay and "so far from being over, the battle has just begun."

He regards the party's showing in polling more than four million votes in the face of numerous obstacles naturally in the path of a new movement as "literally unparalleled in the history of free government."

The statement follows: "I congratulate the progressives of the country; that is, I congratulate those good men and women, who, with sincerity of purpose for the common good, have had the vision to look in to the coming years and see what the future demands from us who work in this present."

"What the progressive party has done since the theft of the republican organization by the republican bosses at Chicago last June is literally unparalleled in the history of free government worked under representative institutions. Three months have gone by since a hundred earnest men and women gathered to found the new progressive party."

"Without much money, without any organization, against the wealth of the country, against every political organization of the country, against the furious opposition of every upholder of special privilege, whether in business or in politics, and with the channels of information to the public largely choked, the progressive party has polled between four and four-and-one-half millions votes; has hopelessly beaten one of the old parties, both in the electoral college and in the popular vote; has taken second place in the nation and either first or second place in some 27 out of 48 states."

"No task in any way approaching this has ever before been performed by any party in our country. Such a feat, performed by volunteers hastily brought together and without previous co-operation with one another, against the trained veterans of the political arena—these trained veterans including the entire mercenary forces of politics—should be a source of pride not only to those who performed the task but to all believers in good citizenship and in the capacity of Americans for self government."

"During the campaign I said repeatedly that this was in no sense or way a one man movement, but a movement for greater principals, a movement which has sprung as all healthy movements in our democratic government must spring, from the heart and conscience of the people themselves. This truth must be kept steadily before the minds of all of us. The progressive party has come to stay. If either of the old parties will endeavor to put in execution any of our planks it can count on our hearty support in so doing, but we will not rest contented until the entire platform is enacted into law and becomes part of our political system, national and state."

"I am proud indeed that the great good fortune has been mine to fight shoulder to shoulder with men and women, who, in the ranks and in various positions of leadership have waged this great battle for social and industrial justice. So far from being over the battle has just begun. We will not rest content until every feature of the progressive program has been put into effect, and when this has been done, unquestionably there will have been opened to us new avenues along which it will be a duty to work for the moral and economical betterment of our people."

REALISTIC WARFARE ENACTED OFF COAST

Norfolk, Nov. 12.—Eleven battleships and ten torpedo boats are said to have fought a realistic battle off the Virginia capes. The firing of big guns shook half a dozen cities and towns in Virginia and North Carolina and in many places the tremors were attributed to an earthquake. Last night the ships were reported to have opened fire on the torpedo boats. The battleships, which were packed the Virginia capes, were fired with their main guns and were fired with their main guns and were fired with their main guns.

EXTRA SESSION STILL IN DOUBT

WILSON'S MIND OPEN

Wants to Have Opinions for and Against Calling Extra Session of Congress—No Immediate Intention of Making an Announcement—Prepares for Vacation.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 12.—President-elect Woodrow Wilson has his mind open on the question whether he will call an extra session of congress to revise the tariff.

He asked the newspaper correspondents last night to obtain for him a list of the public men and business men who hold themselves for or against the extra session. Although the governor has tried to follow closely in the newspapers the various expressions of opinions, he said he was afraid he might have missed some of them in his reading and that he was anxious to get all the opinions before him.

It is known that Governor Wilson has a high regard for the opinion of Oscar W. Underwood, the majority leader of the democrats in the last session, and that in making up his mind he will give careful attention to Underwood's arguments. Mr. Underwood is reported as favoring an extra session.

"I have no immediate intention of making an announcement," said Mr. Wilson, "but I should like to get the names of those who have given affirmative and those who have given negative opinions in reference to the advisability of calling an extra session. I refer not only to members of congress but to all important democratic leaders."

The president-elect was asked if he had received many requests that an extra session be called. "No, I have not," he replied, "but I can only answer for the telegrams. I have none among the telegrams. My secretary has sifted out most of the letters and I know as yet only their general nature and I do not think they touch on a special session."

A newspaper dispatch from Washington was called to Governor Wilson's attention declaring that close friends of Wm. J. Bryan said he would decline a post in the cabinet. "Oh, but Mr. Bryan did not say that," remarked the governor, "that was just a piece of dope."

The future president was invited to spend his winters at Columbia, S. C., his old home. Wm. E. Gonzales, editor of the Columbia State, Dr. S. C. Mitchell, president of the University of South Carolina, J. E. Swearing, state superintendent of education and James S. Woodrow, a cousin of Mr. Wilson and an instructor in the University of South Carolina, informed him of the purchase by the state of his boyhood home and that it was being remodeled for his use as a winter residence. It is probable that the Wilsons will spend part of their winters there. Mr. Gonzales of the delegation said the house had been purchased by the people of South Carolina and that it had been placed at the disposal of the president-elect "for a period of eight years."

Attention of the governor was called yesterday to a newspaper editorial which said that his conceptions of the presidency could be found in his book on congressional government. "I wrote that when I was 28 years old," said the governor, "I have not read it since, so I don't know whether I have changed my opinions or not."

The governor said that in his vacation retreat he would go "inoc." He will call on the local officials and request that his identity be not officially recognized. "I am sure everybody will respect that wish," he said. "I am going to a remote place. There will be no news from me. I am going to write up messages to the New Jersey legislature and read."

He said his chief diversions would be bicycling and horseback riding. He said he would go to New York Friday night preparatory to sailing the next day.

When a woman finds herself the head of the house the first thing she does is to invest in a new hat for the head.

JOHNSON'S BOND NOW $70,000

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Jack Johnson was told today that four additional federal indictments were found against him and that he could be imprisoned for five years on each indictment. A bond of $350,000 is possible. "It is a frame-up," the fighter remarked.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Owing to the new indictments, the bond of Jack Johnson was increased to seventy thousand later today. W. G. Anderson, a negro attorney, appeared before Judge Landis, stating that Johnson's counsel had promised to produce the bonds.

ROUND-UP DIRECTORS ARE CHOSEN TONIGHT

Considerable interest is being manifested today in the meeting of the stockholders of the Northwestern Frontier Exhibition association at which the Round-up directorate for the coming year will be elected. There bids fair to be competition for places inasmuch as several names have been mentioned as candidates for the positions.

The board is comprised of eleven directors, all of whom are elected for one year only. Thus there will be eleven places to fill, but it is probable that such of the old directors who care to continue their service will be retained without opposition. The departure of Secretary J. E. Keefe from the city leaves one vacancy and it is reported that Treasurer George Hartman, against the wishes of his associates, will decline to be a candidate for reelection, thus leaving another vacancy. The other nine, it is said, will stand for reelection.

For the two vacancies which will probably exist, the names of a number of prominent young men of the city are being mentioned, but it is probable that not all will be presented to the stockholders.

There are about 300 stockholders in the association, all but two or three of which own but one share. Each share is entitled to a vote in the election. The stockholders do not elect the officers of the association but only the eleven directors, who name their own officers. It is more than probable, however, that T. D. Taylor will be retained as president for another year.

The meeting will be held in the assembly room of the city hall and will be called to order at 8 o'clock.
